Herathera Island Resort

Location

Herathera Island Resort

Herathera Island Resort, surrounded by a beautiful lagoon and long stretches of white, sandy beach, is the only resort on the island of Herathera, a 20 minute speedboat transfer from Gan International Airport, on the island of Gan.

Gan is about a 70 minute flight south of Hulhule International Airport, the main airport near Male'. After about 55 of the 70 minute flight, your flight crosses the equator then continues about 15 minutes to Gan.

Addu Atoll

Addu Atoll is the southern most Atoll in the Maldives, about 65 km (42 miles) South of the Equator and about 480 km (300 miles) south of Male'.

Addu has 32 islands forming the outline shape of a heart 18 km (11 miles) wide x 15 km (10 miles) long, creating the longest stretch of coral reef and beach and the largest lagoon in the Maldives.

Of the 32 islands, 6 are inhabited, 1 is the airport island of Gan and 25 are uninhabited.

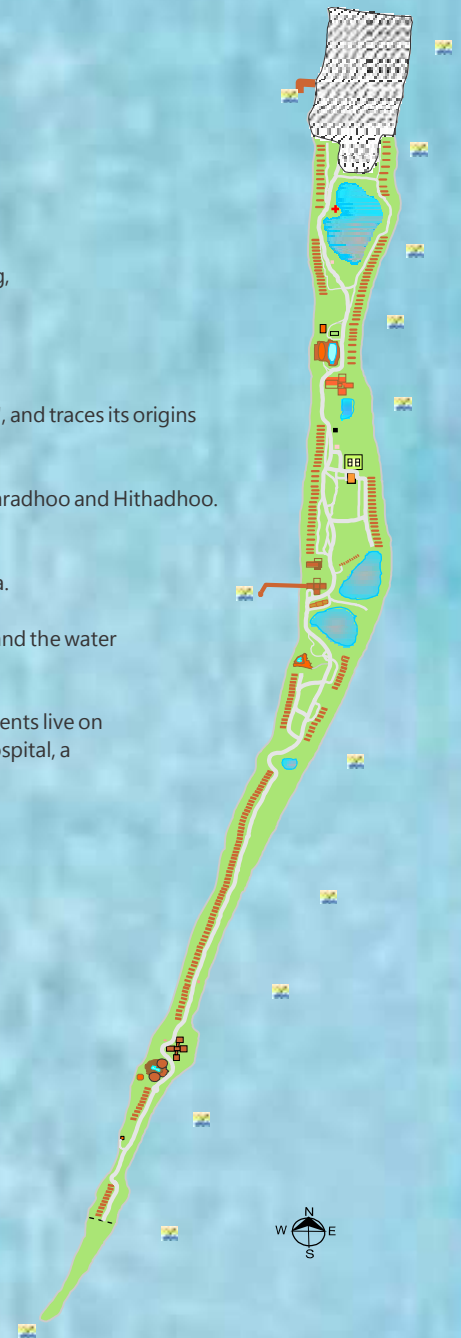

The Gan International Airport serves both domestic and international flights, much the same as Male', and traces its origins to the British as a Royal Air Force base during WWII.

The islands on Addu's western side, from south to north, include Gan, Feydoo, Maradhoo Feydhoo, Maradhoo and Hithadhoo.

The islands on Addu's eastern side, from north to south, include Meedhoo, Hulhudhoo, Herathera (Herathera Island Resort), Gesskaluhera, Mulikede, Villingili (ShangraLa Island Resort) and Madihera.

The weather in Addu is the same as the rest of the Maldives, the air temperature averages 30 C (86 F) and the water temperature about 27 C (81 F).

The population of Addu is almost 30,000, second only to Male's 75,000 residents. Half of Addu's residents live on Hithadhoo, the capital island where there is a secondary and a higher secondary school, a regional hospital, a telecommunications center, a fish processing plant, and a regional port.
